

Partners in Child Protection Reform
October 5, 2011

The meeting was held at the United Way of Greater Houston and was co-hosted by OneVoice Texas. As the first Partners in Child Protection Reform meeting outside of the Austin area, this meeting helped to secure relationships with our regional partners and become familiar with the work of local communities. The group was provided the DFPS presentation on PEI cuts and a facilitated discussion on promoting prevention efforts through strategic planning followed. The group showed great interest to engage in substantive work around regional strategic planning and policy development related to positive outcomes that in turn prevent child abuse. This meeting was a first step to generate interest and get stakeholders engaged and began thinking of how to move this work forward.

Those attending were encouraged to continue this work and were provided information about upcoming meetings that would be addressing prevention efforts at the local and state level.
